

For the final submission, I mainly did two parts of work. The first one was managing to split text file into single words and export it as a cleaned text file with python. We worked together on Neo4j and managed to integrate the graph database with our python code. Also, I did some writing work on generating the final and mid-term report.